A Collection of News from

and General Intelligence for Eagle Readers.

In the hamlet of Levant, ten miles from Bangor, Me., George W. Higgins, an evangelist, was called from his home at midnight Monday by a crowd of masked citizens, dragged on his back over a rough road for a quarter of a mile, stripped and covered with a thick coat of tar and feathers and then ridden on a rail to a neighboring village, two miles away, and left to his fate. Higgins made his way back home dressed in his coat of tar and feathers and a pair of stockings. The trouble grew out of a new religious sect which has come into existence there known as "the Holy Ghost and United States congregation." Higgins succeeded in making a number of converts. It is the rule that converts must give up all their earthly belongings, turning over their money and property to the leaders of the movement, and depending on Providence alone for everything they need to support life. Prominent citizens ordered Higgins to leave town, but he did not go, and Monday night's work was the culmination of their efforts to stop what they call a "fool religion."

TWO SWINDLERS GET $5,000.

Shrewd Men Victimize Louisville German Insurance Bank.

The German Insurance Bank of Louisville was victimized out of $5,000 Monday afternoon by two well-dressed young men. Just before the hour for closing the banks the assistant cashier of the German Insurance Bank was rung up by telephone and asked if he could accommodate the Citizens' National Bank with $5,000 in currency. On being answered in the affirmative the inquiring party said he would send two young men around to get the money. Shortly afterward two young men appeared at the bank with a check for $5,000, bearing the supposed signature of the cashier of the Citizens' National Bank. The assistant cashier counted out the money to the young men. When the check reached the clearing house it was discovered to be a forgery.

Nine months ago the British consul in Chicago called the attention of the postoffice officials to a swindle being enacted of British subjects. With difficulty the crime was traced to the De Baras. The couple had their mail sent to Connecticut, and lived in Florida.

The mother got out in time to witness the accident, and made a desperate effort to rescue the little ones. She is crazed with grief.

FINED EVERY MAN IN TOWN.

Princeton, Ky., has had the unusual experience of the arraignment of every man in it for contempt of court. It happened that a petition had been signed by all the men in town asking the grand jury not to indict the insurance companies, and no indictments were found. The commonwealth's attorney moved to proceed against the signers for contempt of court. After considerable argument the judge fined each signer 1 cent and the decision was applauded by the defendants.

GENERAL KING IN FROM MANILA.

Says the Tugal Rebels Will Not Be Easily Subdued.

Brig. Gen. Charles King was a passenger on the transport Puebla, which arrived at San Francisco from Manila Thursday afternoon. "The fighting is not over," said Gen. King, "nor will it be until there has been a complete defeat admitted to the Tagals, who are, in fact, the only ones of the island tribes that are in active rebellion. Once they are beaten on the plains they will retire to the fastnesses of the mountains, and there they will go into the unbroken forests, where the jungle is so dense that the paths are of sufficient size only for the passage of men in single file. In such surroundings ten men can stand off a regiment. That is what the people must look forward to, and it will be a long time before there is anything like peace in the island of Luzon." Gen. King said that Gen. Otis estimate that 30,000 men would be needed to defeat the natives was very moderate.

DUM-DUM IS BANNED.

Peace Conference Is Against That Form of Bullet.

A resolution was adopted in the peace conference at The Hague prohibiting the use of dum-dum, or soft point, bullets. The resolution was carried by 18 votes to 3. Italy, Austria and England voted in the negative, holding such bullets useful in wars with savages. It was also resolved to prohibit the use of explosives from balloons and also the use of explosive bullets. The conviction grows stronger than at first that the work of the conference is doomed to failure, so far as disarmament and reduction of war inventions are concerned. The members of the disarmament committee, however, confidently believe that the use of submarine boats will be prohibited.

It looked for a time as if bloodshed would occur, but several policemen came to the rescue and Henderson was led from the room.

Failures Are Few.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says that the April failures were the smallest ever reported in any month. May failures are nearly $2,000,000 smaller, only 68.2 per cent of the smallest previously reported in any month, and only 34.3 per cent of those in May last year. Solvent payments were $8,328,202,052, and defaults were $3,820,086, or 45.7 cents on $1,000, against 70 cents in April, $1.19 in March and $3.02 in September, 1904. Comparison with previous years indicates that the rate of defaults to solvent business has never been as small in any other month as in May, 1905. Both in manufacturing and in trading failures were the smallest ever known in any month, and in each branch eight of the fourteen classes showed smaller failures than in May of any other year. Failures for the week have been 145 in the United States, against 222 last year, and 14 in Canada, against 10 last year. Bradstreet's says: "Cereal exports begin to show an improvement. Wheat, including flour, shipments for the week aggregate 3,500,000 bushels, against 3,103,319 bushels last week. Corn exports for the week aggregate 3,022,407 bushels, against 3,845,818 bushels last week."

Both sections of the disarmament committee at The Hague failed to agree over the question of new inventions in war machines.

Indian Flashed to Death.

There was much excitement among the Indians at Sams Bois, Ind. T. Saturday, when at dusk John May, a Cheesaw, was publicly flung to death. The punishment inflicted on May was for cattle stealing, and was in accordance with an old Cheesaw law, which provides for the giving of 100 lashes to the back of any member of the tribe found guilty of the crime of cattle stealing. May was caught in the act of driving several hundred head of cattle, the property of another Indian, to the railroad station. He was once arrested, tried and found guilty, the sentence being that he be tied to a stake and flogged. If an Indian withstands the severe punishment meted out to him in 100 lashes he is given his freedom, but few have lived through half of this punishment. May was flogged in the presence of several hundreds of Indians. A number of Creeks and Cheesaws witnessed the flogging, but no whites were admitted to the spectacle. When the fiftieth stroke was applied May made frantic efforts to wrench himself from the post, the blood fairly pouring from the streaks of flesh on his back. As the seventieth lash was given he collapsed and lay limp at the stake. He was unconscious at the eightieth stroke, and at the eighty-sixth it was found that he was dead.
